

MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED ARE BANQUET GUESTS AT SOCIAL TIME UNDER AUSPICES LOCAL MASONS

LARGE DINNER GIVEN BY FRATERNAL ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETE SUCCESS; TALKS MADE AND PLEASING GET ACQUAINTED SYSTEM ADDS TO PROGRAM

Delightfully informal and enjoyable in every particular was the banquet with which Unity Lodge, No. 368, F. and A. M., entertained brother Masons and their ladies last evening at seven o'clock.

Three hundred twenty-five guests enjoyed the hospitality of the Blue Lodge, and a more genial assembly has never convened in Glendale.

The note of color on the seven dining tables that extended the entire length of the banquet hall was supplied by vases of deep red carnations and ferns. On the rostrum was another table for special guests, including Worshipful Master Frederick Baker and Mrs. Baker, Junior Warden Dwight Stephenson and Mrs. Stephenson, Charles Peckham, Past Commander of Knights Templar, and Mrs. Peckham, Mr. E. R. Naudain and Mrs. Naudain, Worthy Matron-elect of Glen Eyrle Chapter, Order Eastern Star, Senior Warden Henry P. Goodwin and Mrs. Goodwin were also to have had places with these specially honored guests, but were detained at home by Mrs. Goodwin's illness.

The banquet was planned by the Ladies' Aid of the First M. E. church, and therefore needs no wordy encomiums, these ladies being famous as good cooks and good managers. Their adept handling of the great number served so deftly by their corps of dainty white-gowned young ladies proved their skill as organizers and managers; and as the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the Ladies' Aid today has three hundred twenty-five witnesses to attest their proficiency in things culinary.

Doxology Is Sung
The guests stood at their places before the tables and sang the doxology before sitting down to the banquet where the piece de resistance was baked ham and yams, with all the dishes appropriate as supplements to this luxury supplied in abundance. As every guest was decorated with a large disk bearing his name, and as each guest seemed resolved to give as well as receive pleasure, there were absolutely no strangers at the table—every one chatted as if his neighbor at table were really an old, familiar acquaintance.

The Garden Court Orchestra of Hollywood played the music to which the company marched from the lodge room to the banquet hall; they also played all through the meal, and were repeatedly encored by the guests.

Worshipful Master Baker in his after-dinner speech greeted the guests in the name of Unity Lodge and gave a brief outline of the fundamental principles and the benefits of Masonry. This talk Mr. Baker directed particularly to the ladies; he explained that Masonry is primarily designed to teach duty to God, to country, to neighbor and to home, and held that it was a constructive force in moulding character, tending to make a better husband and father as well as a more loyal citizen.

Mrs. Naudain, Worthy Matron-elect of Glen Eyrle Chapter, O. E. S., responded wittily to the toast, "We Are Here."

Placed Upon High
Toastmaster Baker complained that the committee responsible for the seating of the guests had violated one of the principles of Masonry in setting him above the others, placing him on a high platform, and said that he could only infer from this that having witnessed some of his previous gastronomic performances, his brothers thought to show him off in public. He added that this thought had impaired his appetite to such an extent that he was unable to do justice to the viands set before him.

Commander Peckham said that he, too, had a complaint: he was sensitive to the difference in the toastmaster's manner of introducing Mrs. Naudain and himself; whereas, in introducing the lady, the toastmaster had said she would "give an address," in introducing him the toastmaster had by unkind inference and innuendo given him a hint, saying, "Past Commander Peckham will make a few remarks."

Compliments Committee
Mr. Peckham complimented the committee in charge of the entertainment, Messrs. A. W. Tower, Moody and Fred Deal, on its complete success in every detail. He spoke also of the work of the building committee.

After the banquet the guests repaired to the lodge room where for fifteen minutes they played a "get-acquainted" game in which Mrs. Gilhooly and Mr. Custer proved the best "mixers," the former being awarded as a prize an armful of beautiful shaggy yellow chrysanthemums, while the latter received an Eversharp pencil.

The musical numbers of the program were of exceptional merit. Don C. Lindley's beautiful voice was heard to advantage in the lyrical number, "I Dream of the Day I Met You," and also in his dramatic encore, Henley's brave "Out of the Night That Covers Me."

Operatic Selection
Signor Serafin Pia, a member of Unity Lodge and a grand opera singer now engaged in concert work, so delighted the audience with his dramatic interpretation of an operatic selection that they insisted on three encores: "Calm As the Night," La Paloma, in Spanish, and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling."

The work of the accompanist is so often taken for granted, especially in the case of a good one, whose work naturally merges itself into (Continued on Page 4)

JAPANESE RIGHTS NOT SUBJECT FOR TREATY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Any proposal to settle the Japanese question by means of a treaty will encounter opposition in the senate, where such a treaty would have to be ratified, it became apparent today. Members of the foreign relations committee, who have been watching developments, are ready to oppose any treaty the state department works out with Japan, on the following grounds: That immigration and the rights of Japanese in this country are not proper subjects for a treaty. That the United States should make no concessions to Japan so long as that country holds the Marshall and Ladrone islands in the Pacific, that a treaty would prove as ineffectual as the "gentlemen's agreement" and other understandings between the two governments in the past in solving the question.

CORILLA WARFARE REPORTED IN IRELAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
DUBLIN, Dec. 1.—Gorilla warfare with the Sinn Fein continued in southern Ireland today, with reports of conflicts in Cork and Ardeer reaching officials here. Black and tan police were reported to have raided several houses and to have killed two men in Ardeer. The victims are said to have been dragged from their homes in the darkness and their riddled bodies left nearby. Ten days of searching for leaders of Sinn Fein movement have netted four hundred prisoners.

REPORT CONSPIRACY AGAINST OBREGON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Coincident with the inauguration of President Obregon of Mexico, it was said at the state department today that reports have been received of a conspiracy against the new Mexican government. The state department is investigating the reports. The plotting against Obregon was said to have had its inception on the Mexican border. The reports were incomplete and for this reason department officials refused to reveal all the information they had received.

STEAMER LADEN WITH COTTON IS ON FIRE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 1.—The American steamship Calno, bound to Liverpool from Port Arthur, Texas, with a cargo of cotton, is afire in the Gulf of Mexico, a wireless message to the naval station here today reported. The message asked that tugs be sent to meet the ship, which was headed full speed for the mouth of the Mississippi river. At the time the message was sent the Calno was approximately one hundred miles out from the mouth of the river.

FAVOR ADMISSION OF AUSTRIA TO LEAGUE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
GENEVA, Dec. 1.—The commission on membership voted today to recommend the admission of Austria to the League of Nations. The action was expected. Debate had been looked for when the proposal reached the assembly floor, but the fact that the vote was unanimous made it appear there will be no opposition to the new member. President Wilson's acceptance of arbitration in Armenia was received with great enthusiasm in the assembly today.

PRICES DECREASE IN PACIFIC COAST STATES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Both wholesale and retail prices in practically all commodities decreased during October in the states comprising the 12th federal reserve district—the Pacific coast—according to a review of business conditions issued by the Federal Reserve bank today. "Prices are generally reported as showing a downward tendency," the report said.

CHARGE ATROCITIES AGAINST CHRISTIANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
TOKIO, Dec. 1.—Charges of vicious atrocities against Christians at Chien Tao, Korea, were made today by missionaries. They declared that Japanese troops have engaged in a systematic campaign of burning homes, schools and churches of Christians, and killing many without examination or trial.

TWO STREET CARS COLLIDE IN LOS ANGELES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—Four persons were hurt and scores of others barely escaped injury today when two street cars, both crowded with passengers, collided at Vernon and Moneta avenues. Those injured included a motorman, a conductor, and two men passengers. They were cut by broken glass.

SHIPPING BOARD MEMBERS ARE SWORN IN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The new shipping board of seven members recently named by President Wilson met today and the members were sworn in. They included Chester Rowell of California.

Fifteen Minute Service on Cars? Dream? Well Just Read This Story

A citizen of West Glendale had a dream last night. Unlike Pharaoh of old, he needs no Joseph to interpret it, nor would it take a follower of the new fad of psycho-analysis to tell whence and why the dream came, or in what corner of his subconsciousness the seed of it was lurked. It is quite plain "the wish was father to the thought."

In his dream he saw the little Eagle Rock car which, he says, now stands for a half hour at the end of each run in front of the First National Bank at Broadway and Brand boulevard—he saw this car, he says, go skally-hootin' down Broadway to Central, across the cut-off corner at Broadway and Central, along Central to Concord, up Concord through the new subdivisions in that section, over the new bridge soon to be built; thus we would have fifteen-minute street car service between Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank. We may not have got his route just right—you know how 'tis in a dream—but we'll get more definite information on that later. Anyway, the point is that there would be the fifteen-minute service between the three towns; the west side, where people from over 100 homes must go six long blocks to Brand for a car, would have car service; the people employed in the industrial district between Glendale and Burbank would be greatly benefited, and this booster dreamer adds that this would give Glendale 50,000 population in five years. "And," he adds, "that's no dream, either. It would give us that many inhabitants in five years; moreover, it's a perfectly feasible idea; I'm proud of having dreamed it, and it will come true, as other dreams of mine have."

FAVORS CHARTER

CITY OF SACRAMENTO VOTES FIVE TO ONE TO ADOPT MANAGER SYSTEM

In view of the fact that the city of Glendale is now in the midst of drafting a city charter with the idea in view that a manager form of government should be embodied in the instrument, the news from Sacramento, Cal., is of interest that voters there yesterday, by a vote of approximately five to one, approved the new city manager charter with its provision for holding city elections under the Hare proportional voting system.

Thirty-six out of the fifty-eight precincts in the city gave for the charter, 3,678; against the charter, 726. The new charter will go into effect the first of next July.

FORMER GLENDALE MAN SETS NEW MARK IN FLIGHT TO PASADENA FROM NORTH

David Hicks, who formerly resided in this city, and who is now with the aero squadron at San Francisco, broke all previous records for flying from San Francisco to Pasadena when he arrived in that city Monday, three hours and one minute after leaving the northern city. The former record was three hours and twenty-five minutes.

Mr. Hicks was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson and son Paul at their home, 246 North Orange street.

MANAGER FORM OF GOVERNMENT SUGGESTED TO FREEHOLDER BOARD IN PREPARATION OF CITY CHARTER

ANOTHER SESSION ON FRIDAY NIGHT

DRAFT OF CHICO LAWS TO BE CONSIDERED FOR USE IN GLENDALE, IS PLAN

Presided over by Bert P. Woodard, chosen chairman when organization was first perfected, and with Dr. Jessie A. Russell acting as secretary, to which position she had been elected, the board of freeholders, recently chosen by the voters to frame a new charter for submission to the people of Glendale, met in the city hall last night.

The report of a special committee named to secure information regarding charters in other cities was submitted and adopted, as told in another column of The Evening News tonight.

The board remained in session from 7:45 o'clock until 10:15, then adjourned to meet at the city hall next Friday night at 7:30 o'clock when, it is expected, a tentative draft of a charter based upon the managerial form of city government will be considered. It is probable that the new charter now being used by the city of Chico, Cal., will be taken as the basis for the one to be submitted for the approval of Glendale voters, although, as explained in another column, future deliberations may cause the board to discard this plan for some other yet to be suggested.

Those in Attendance

Present at the session last night were: A. W. Beach, Henry Johnston, C. W. Kimlin, R. M. McGee, May E. Myton, C. D. Lusby, W. R. Phelon, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mabel L. Light, Bert P. Woodard and G. B. Woodberry.

Members of the board unable to present were: George H. Bentley, C. W. Ingledue, F. L. Muhleman and F. H. Vesper.

After the discussion of the special committee's report, given in an adjoining column of The Evening News, T. W. Watson, city manager of Glendale, was called upon to briefly explain the present system under which the city is governed.

City Manager Watson, with the use of maps and printed data, furnished the board with a very clear and complete understanding of how Glendale, as a city of the sixth class, is operated.

The city manager answered questions as he made his statement and so excellent was his presentation of the subject that, upon its conclusion, he was given a vote of thanks by the board.

Controller Is Favored

During the course of his explanation, City Manager Watson urged that, in drafting the proposed charter, (Continued on Page 4)

COMMITTEE FILES REPORT ON WORK

COMMISSION METHOD WILL BE TOO EXPENSIVE IS BELIEF AT PRESENT

Recommending the manager form of city government and, further, recommending the general draft as presented by the Chico, Cal., charter, the special committee appointed by the board of freeholders of Glendale to secure general information relative to freeholders' charters made its report to the board in session at the city hall last night.

The report was unanimously adopted on motion of C. W. Kimlin, it being distinctly understood that it does not necessarily follow that the freeholders are committed to the adoption of a managerial form of government or that a charter drafted along the lines of the Chico charter be finally submitted to the voters of Glendale for approval.

In adopting the report and thanking the committee for its work, the board took the position that a consideration of the Chico charter might reveal that it was not suitable to the needs of Glendale; that deliberations might show a commission form of government may be best; that suggestions from members not present last night might cause an entirely new form of charter to be submitted.

Manager Form Is Liked

However, individual expressions from members of the board present last night reveal that, to date, the manager form of city government seems to be favored, the declarations being that a commission form would, among other things, be too costly for Glendale to attempt. It was agreed that if the city was in a position to pay commissioners salaries that would tempt efficient men to take the positions, that form of rule would be the best. But it seemed to be the opinion of the majority that Glendale is not yet in a position to pay commissioners salaries of from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, hence it would not be policy to submit the commission form. It was declared that cities paying commissioners about $2,000 yearly—or a little more—are not obtaining men of high efficiency and, consequently, are not obtaining the best of results.

Further, it was explained that if the manager form of rule is adopted and, later, Glendale desires to try the commission form, the change can be made in the charter with practically no great legal difficulty. So, judging by the expressions at the sessions last night, the freeholders will proceed on the plan of submitting a charter containing managerial rule, rather than the commission (Continued on Page 4)

AT LUNCHEON

MRS. MABEL F. OCKER AND MRS. C. E. HUTCHINSON AT PASADENA MEETING

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, attended the reciprocity day luncheon given by the Pasadena Shakespeare club at its clubhouse in Pasadena yesterday. Special guests present were Mrs. Robert Burdett, representing the general federation; Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, state president; Mrs. Robert Garner of San Bernardino, vice president at large, and Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, district president. Three hundred and fifty guests were served at a very delightful luncheon, which was followed by a musical program.

A long distance message received from San Jacinto brings the news that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Humphrey, who was Miss Gladys Anderson of this city, are happy over the arrival of a baby girl born this morning. Mrs. Humphrey was a graduate of Glendale union high school and a member of the Jolly Thirteen club.

PROUD RECORD

ABOUT 2500 MEMBERS ARE SECURED IN GLENDALE FOR RED CROSS

While other cities in various sections have failed to make their quotas in the Red Cross membership campaign, Glendale has not only gone over the top, but has gone over the second time and is well on the way to climb over the third time.

In other words, Glendale, given the task of securing 1,000 members at $1 each, reached that quota, then secured another thousand and now has between 2,400 and 2,500 memberships. All of which is particularly gratifying to those in charge of the drive here—and to citizens generally.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward was in charge of the local drive and today she requested The Evening News to express the committee's thanks to all who did their part in the campaign. She also acknowledges the part The Evening News played in the drive.

Mrs. Hayward wishes to give special acknowledgment for help to Mrs. O. H. Belew, Mrs. Allan Fairchild, Mrs. C. E. Hilliard, Mrs. H. M. Merrill and Miss Esther Jones, who gave their automobiles to the work and also their services.

Thanks are also extended by Mrs. Hayward to all others who, in any way, helped to make such a remarkable showing for the city of Glendale.

CANNOT DO IT

PASSENGERS MUST NOT TEAR COUPONS FROM BOOKS IS ORDER FROM P. E.

Are you in the habit of riding to and from Los Angeles on the Pacific Electric? You are? And are you in the habit of tearing the ticket from your commuters' coupon book and handing it to the conductor? You are? Well then, stop it. Why? Because, beginning immediately, Pacific Electric conductors will refuse to accept coupons not torn out by themselves.

O. A. Smith, general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric, declares that, beginning at once, this ruling will be enforced. He also said that circulars, notifying passengers that conductors are to take the coupons out of the books hereafter, will be distributed at once.

Held to Answer

Preliminary hearing of the case of C. E. Stout of Los Angeles, who was arrested on the charge of driving an automobile on Brand boulevard while intoxicated, took place before Judge Lowe yesterday afternoon. Mr. Stout was bound over to the superior court, on his own recognizance.

MUSIC AND DANCING SCHOOL

The Woods' School of Dancing and Music, established one year ago, has already enrolled over 150 pupils. Mrs. Nanno Woods, resident in Glendale 12 years, is an honor graduate. R. L. A. M. in Theory, Harmony, Counterpoint and Musical History. Using her own beautiful home as Studio, Mrs. Woods specializes on small classes, and attracts students, both adults and children, who appreciate the privacy and nice-ness of undisputed social surroundings. In Burbank her school is of necessity conducted in Horne's Hall.
Four teachers at present comprise the faculty, and further enlargement of the school is being planned. Piano, violin, elocution, ballroom and fancy dancing are the subjects taught. 122 West Milford street, Glendale. Phone Glendale 394.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Glover of 416
Myrtle street are spending the week at San Diego.

H. H. Bevis has recently bought the property at 470 Riverdale drive, paying $10,000, it is reported.

Miss Katharine Yardley of St.
Paul, Minnesota, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth Road.

The Doran street school Parent-Teacher association cleared about $50 last night at the benefit per-
theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Maxwell and son Guy Maxwell, 202 West Park avenue, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Pentecost, motored to Mint
Canyon and Newhall Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Jackman, 515 North Kenwood street, spent the week-end in San Dimas Canyon, where they have a lot on which they are contemplating building a cabin.

Mrs. E. J. Schneider and daughter, Mrs. Middleton, of Hollywood, and Mrs. Ries Snider of Los Angeles, were the luncheon guests of Mrs. V.
M. Tresslar, 320 West Lexington drive, today.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fryer have sold their six-acre orange grove at 1424 North Pacific avenue, and will move next week to a new home which they have purchased at 935 North Louise street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Way of 433
North Louise street, who recently came to Glendale from Omaha, Nebraska, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kitterman of 311
North Kenwood street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Dean of New York City are occupying the Larkin bungalow at 202 Fairview avenue.
Mrs. Mary E. Larkin and daughter, Miss Josephine Larkin, are at Newport Beach for a month.

Ben Mayhew and sister, Miss J.
Beth Mayhew of Colorado Springs, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hickman, 336 West Park avenue. Mr. and Miss Mayhew are spending the winter in Los Angeles.

The Misses Dorothy and Kathleen Woods, Mrs. Nanno Woods, and several of their pupils will entertain the disabled soldiers at Thornycroft with an informal program of recitations, musical readings and dances next Saturday evening, December 4.

Mrs. Frank H. Ray, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hammond, 118
South Jackson street, for the past month, is returning to her home in Medford, Ore., stopping enroute at Oakland and Berkeley, where she will visit friends and relatives.

The disabled soldiers at Thorny-croft were entertained last night by a musical program which had been arranged by Mrs. D. L. Gibson of the music department of Glendale high school. Vocal selections by Miss Nina Robinson and Miss Irene Ren-nison of the high school, readings and songs by Mrs. Natalie Hall, also of the high school, as well as a vocal duet by Mrs. Hall and Miss Robinson were enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Ella Richardson, 525 South Central avenue, spent Thanksgiving week with her daughter, Mrs. Shives Mitchell, at King City. Her sons,
Will Richardson of Glendale, Paul Richardson of Stanford University, and John Richardson from the Mt.
Tamalpais Military Academy at San Rafael, were also present. A telegram was received from Bert Richardson, who is in New York City, on Thanksgiving day, he being the only one not able to come.

Mrs. Marie M. Yoeman of 113
North Orange street, president of Los Angeles county W. C. T. U., very graciously entertained the county officers at a delightful luncheon at her home yesterday. Covers were laid for six, Mrs. Marie M. Yoeman, hostess; Mrs. Hattie C. Young of Los Angeles; Mrs. Lily C. Richardson and Mrs. Louise M. Morton of Glendale;
Mrs. J. Victoria Bannister of La Verne, and Mrs. Clara B. Sheldon of Los Angeles. During the day, the president called a business session, at which plans were made and many important matters discussed pertaining to the work of the organization.

ROBERT NELSON GREENLAW IS MAKING PLANS TO BUILD HOME

Robert Nelson Greenlaw, who was a resident of St. Louis, Mo., for twenty years, during the last ten of which he was connected with the Missouri Valley Trust company, came out to California last summer and looked over the country from San Diego to San Francisco, with a view to locating. The result is that he is now in Glendale with his wife and three children, determined to rent furnished quarters in which to live until he can buy a lot and build a home. Mr. Greenlaw is a brother of Mrs. Paul Mertens of 703 South Adams.

GIVES WARNING

TAXES MUST BE PAID ON OR BEFORE DECEMBER 6 OR PENALTIES RESULT

County Tax Collector Welch today issued final warning to the taxpayers of Glendale and Los Angeles county generally that if taxes are not paid by December 6 penalties and fines may be assessed against the delinquents.

The tax collector announces that the tax books will be closed on December 6 and no more payments will be accepted until a further date to be announced by Collector Welch.

The delinquent list then will be prepared and penalties will be assessed against those who failed to pay by the date specified.

All personal tax payments and the first installment of the real estate tax fall due and payable on December 6.

The second installment of the real estate tax will become delinquent after April 25.

Tax payments will not be accepted after the final dates mentioned above.

RETURNS HERE

MRS. ANNA PLANNETT BACK IN GLENDALÉ; ACCOMPANIED BY MRS. G. W. MCKEE

Mrs. Anna Plattnett has returned from a year's visit in the old home, Marion, Ind., and also in Covington.
She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. G. W. McKee, who had been there for a longer period. The latter and her husband have been disposing of their property in Marion in order to spend the remainder of their days in Glendale.

Mr. McKee expects to go into business here, probably in a grocery and meat market. He is a brother of E.
S. McKee, late of the Central Market and now with the Quality, and of Mrs. S. J. Walker, who, with her husband, has recently bought the Christy grocery and market. And he would not be a novice in Glendale business circles, either, for when he lived here several years ago he started a meat market in Robinson Bros.
grocery at Park and Brand, afterward turning it over to his son-in-law, Clifford Clavin.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee's daughter, Ruth, was married a few weeks ago to Dewey Bogue and she and her husband, together with Miss Margery Gynon, will come to Glendale soon, also.

Grandmother Plattnett is now in her eighty-fifth year, but is in the best of health and quite vigorous for her age. She said she gained fifteen pounds during her visit in the east. She is now in her old home at 454 Riverdale drive, where she has lived for the past seven years.

HOLD FUNERAL

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO
MEMORY OF MRS. GARDNER
BY HER FRIENDS

Impressive funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Mrs.
John Gardner, who died Sunday night as the result of injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband was struck and overturned by a Pacific Electric car.

The funeral was held from the family home, 231 Milford street, and interment was in Forest Lawn under the auspices of the Seavern Undertaking company.

The services were conducted by Rev. Cole, pastor of the Christian church. There were a number of floral offerings sent by sorrowing friends.

Mrs. Gardner was sixty-one years old and formerly was a resident of Pringhar, Iowa. Mrs. Gardner had been a resident of Glendale for a little over a year. She was a member of Glen Eyrle chapter No. 237, Order of the Eastern Star. She is survived by a son, Karl L. Gardner of East Palmer avenue, Glendale, a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Smits, and two grandchildren, Evart and Howard Smits, of 231 Milford street.

The pallbearers were A. W. Beach,
D. H. Smith, J. Herbert Smith, H. L.
Totman, Bert Spears and Mr. Boyer,
the latter being of Los Angeles.

CONFERENCE

REPUBLICAN FORCES TO MEET
IN PASADENA DECEMBER 17
TO NAME NOMINEE

Agreement has been reached that Pasadena, on December 17, will be the place for holding the general Republican conference in the ninth congressional district at which a candidate to succeed to the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman-elect Van de Water will be chosen. This agreement was reached at a meeting at the headquarters of the Republican county central committee of the executive committees of the Republican state and county central committees to organize a conference which will give every section of the ninth district an opportunity to voice its choice for the Republican who will be sent to represent that district in the next congress.

The election will be held between February 15 and February 20, a vacancy having been officially declared to now exist.

Besides naming the place and date of the nominating caucus it was agreed also that the make-up of the conference should include the members of the state and county central committees and congressional committee resident in the ninth district, together with representatives from all the Republican clubs which existed in the district prior to November 2. These club representatives, who will be chosen at a general meeting to be called on December 10, will number three times the membership of the county central committee resident in the district.

This will mean that about 350 delegates will participate in the conference. It was decided that the call for this general club meeting will provide that the delegates shall attend the Pasadena conference uninstructed as to the candidates for the vacant congress seat, although the matter of holding caucuses after the club delegates are selected will be optional with the delegates themselves. The call for the conference, which State Chairman Benjamin will send out as soon as the exact meeting place is decided upon, will probably fix 10 a. m., on Friday, December 17, as the hour for opening the gathering.

HOLD SERVICE

FITTING TRIBUTE IS PAID TO DR. SAMUEL PARRETT BY MANY OF FRIENDS

Funeral services for Dr. Samuel Parrett of South Jackson street were held at Seavern's undertaking establishment and the interment took place in Fullerton cemetery. Many relatives and friends were present at the services and the floral offerings were beautiful. The singing was exceptionally fine, being by Mrs.
Dr. Worcester, nee Alice Adams, and Mrs. Nelson. Elder R. W. Munson was the officiating minister.

Dr. Samuel Parrett was born February 15, 1846, in Goshen, Indiana, and died November 26, 1920, in Glendale, California, aged seventy-four years, nine months and eleven days.

In January, 1875, he was married to Miss Nancy Woods and lived happily with her till her death in 1885.
From this union there came three children, Walter, who was born November 15, 1875, Carrie, who was thru, born October 13, 1884, all of thru born October 13, 1884, all of whom are living in California.

In 1886 he married Miss Carrie Broersen. By this marriage he had one son, John S., who was born December 14, 1889, and is still living and is residing at Long Beach, California.

At the age of sixteen he enlisted in the Illinois infantry and entered the civil war and served till its close.

In 1868 he was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. In 1886 he heard the Advent message at the Santa Ana camp meeting, and taking his stand with them in fellowship. This was thirty-four years ago and he has been a loyal and consistent member ever since that time.

He practiced osteopathy in Fresno for fourteen years, during which time he was an active member of the Fresno church of Seventh-day Adventists. Eight years ago he met with an automobile accident which sadly shattered his constitution.
From that time his health had been broken; so much so indeed that he was obliged to abandon his medical practice.

Five years ago he came to Glendale where he has since resided. One noticeable effect of his illness was his extreme nervousness.

On November 26 he fell and broke his hip bone. From that time he rapidly failed till 3 o'clock the following Friday morning, when he fell asleep, trusting in the Saviour.

He always had a bright christian experience and was active in missionary work. He had a well-worn and well-marked bible and made a faithful use of it in teaching others the truth. He ever longed for the Saviour's appearing and lived in expectation of that day. He died with a bright hope of immortality when Jesus comes.

NEW AUTOMATIC PISTOL

GENEVA—The Swiss army authorities have just finished carrying out experiments with a new long automatic pistol capable of firing fifteen bullets per second a distance of 300 meters. The weapon is easy to manipulate, and the trials are reported to have given complete satisfaction.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR CREDIT?

People who pay their bills by check get a reputation for being careful and systematic in their business dealings. Such a reputation means much in the establishment of credit.

It costs no more to pay your money out by check than it does to pay the hard cash and you have the advantage of having your money in a place that is absolutely safe.

To have money in the bank is of itself a valuable asset in the establishment of credit. And it is possible to practically everyone without one cent of cost.

We invite you to open a checking account with us.
We will help you to make your account a real con-

ANOTHER SESSION ON FRIDAY NIGHT

ter, provision be made for a controller or auditor absolutely independent of the trustees or governing body.

"My point is this: We now lack an official whose sole duty it is to pass upon proposed expenditures before they are made," said City Manager Watson. "I urge that the position of controller be created so that the official can pass upon all contemplated obligations before they really become obligations. I do not mean a purchasing agent; I mean one who is empowered to pass upon a proposed indebtedness before it becomes a charge against the city. He will know if there is money in the proper fund to meet the obligation. He must be independent of the city manager and other city officials."

Discussion of the suggestion brought out that such an official might be elected by the people or appointed by the trustees, as provided for by the charter. The point was made that such an officer was necessary to keep a proper check on city funds before the money was spent, not after the obligation was placed. It was not proposed, however, to empower the official with the right to specify what kind of an article was to be purchased or from whom.

Board of Education

Later in the board's meeting, the subject of a city board of education was brought up and some of the members inquired if it were possible, in drafting the charter, to provide for a school board. It was declared such a charter provision could be made, the school board to act under the state laws, as is done in a number of other cities.

How far a charter could control a library board was also discussed and, it is probable, both subjects will be given further consideration by the freeholders at future meetings.

One Month to Work

It was brought out that the freeholders have but a month in which to complete the proposed charter in order that it may be filed with the city clerk, an election called by the trustees, passed upon by the voters of the city and, if adopted, submitted to the state legislature for ratification.

It was shown that if the work is not done by the first of January, the charter, if adopted by the people, could not reach the next legislature in time to be ratified as required by law. Hence the freeholders last night adopted a motion to make every effort to draft the charter and file it within the next thirty days.

Informal discussion showed that the freeholders will, as individuals, call meetings in different sections of the city and explain to the voters the merits of the charter and urge its favorable reception.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell urged that when the charter is completed, a campaign of education be undertaken by the freeholders, as individuals, not as officials, and strive to show the merit in modernizing the city's form of government. Dr. Russell proposed that meetings be held in various parts of the city and, too, that one or more mass meetings be held so that everyone be made familiar with the proposed charter.

form. Yet, as was pointed out last night, this view may be changed by future deliberations and suggestions.

Report Is Submitted

The committee appointed to secure data, forms and general information relative to freeholders' charters was composed of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, W. R. Phelon and G. B. Woodberry.

Dr. Russell, when the meeting was called to order by Bert P. Woodward, chairman, and after the minutes of the last session were read, submitted the committee's report, as follows:

The committee begs to report that it has given detailed and extensive study to charters of the following cities having the commission form of government:

Pasadena, five commissioners, $3,000 each per year.

Long Beach, five commissioners, $2,500 each per year.

Santa Monica, three commissioners, $3,000 each per year.

Cities having the manager form of government:

Salinas, five councilmen, $25 each per month. Manager.

Alhambra, five commissioners, $300 each per year. Manager.

Alameda, five councilmen. No compensation. Manager not less than $2,000.

Chico, five councilmen, $20 each per month. Manager not less than $3,000.

The committee visited the city of Santa Monica and thoroughly investigated the working of city government under the commission plan as demonstrated in that city, it being conceded one of the most if not the most successful in operation in southern California under that form of government.

While feeling that there are many advantages to be derived from the commission form of government your committee decided that because of the additional expense necessitated by such a form that it would be inadvisable at this time to attempt to incorporate that plan in Glendale, believing that the more economical as well as the more practical plan which would meet immediate necessity and demands of this city is the one which should be given first consideration. Therefore your committee recommends the manager form of city government and further recommends the general draft presented by the Chico charter as the most concise, comprehensive form of any of those considered.

Brief Remarks Are Made

After submitting the report on behalf of the committee, Dr. Russell also filed copies of charters of various cities in order that their forms might be considered by other members of the board—and any others who might be interested.

Mr. Woodberry, when called upon by Chairman Woodward, said that the report was unanimously agreed to by the committee and that, while it was comparatively short, it was complete.

"After all," he said, "no matter what kind of a charter the people adopt, it is the man, or men, they put in control that counts. The men in the offices are the main thing—and, finally, it is the people back of the men—the citizens generally—who either make or unmake a city government. Success in government rests with the people themselves. The manager form appeals to me, under the circumstances, and good trustees will get a good manager. So, finally, the whole matter rests with the people themselves."

Politics in Commissions

Mr. Phelon, in discussing the report, declared that, under the circumstances which Glendale faces, he did not favor the commission form.

"Politics enter too freely into a commission government," he declared. "I believe that, in Glendale's position, we would have better results with a manager form."

Discussion showed that it does not seem this city can, at present, pay the salaries necessary to secure efficient commissioners, therefore, on motion of Mr. Kimlin, the report was adopted and the freeholders will proceed to draft a charter calling for a managerial form—unless future deliberations should show that some other form is better adapted to the city's needs and finances.

It was distinctly understood that the adoption of the report does not mean the freeholders are tied to the manager form and the Chico charter; the understanding was that the Chico charter will be considered at the next meeting and, if it meets with the approval of the majority, it will be taken up paragraph by paragraph, changed when necessary to suit the needs of Glendale, considered in its revised form and either adopted or discarded for some other form that may be worked out.

There are just as many opportunities for doing good as for doing folks.

MASONIC DINNER IS FINE SUCCESS

MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED IN ATTENDANCE AND PROGRAM IS GREATLY ENJOYED

that of the singer. Yet it is such an essential part of the success of the song and a sympathetic accompanist like Miss Helene Morgan is rare enough to deserve special mention.

The picture show ads have appropriated all the adjectives descriptive of "roaring farces" and "screaming comedies"—but Charlie Chaplin was never funnier than Dr. H. R. Boyer was last night as the "victim" in the clever, impromptu mock initiation and third degree put on by a bevy of ladies. Be it known, too, that Mabel Normand, Dorothy Gish, May Irwin and other comedy queens have need to look to their laurels, for Mrs. W. E. Evans as Worshipful Master, Mrs. John Legg as Senior Warden, Mrs. H. R. Boyer as Junior Warden, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam as Senior Deacon, Mrs. Roy Hogue as Junior Steward, Mrs. Dan Campbell as Junior Steward, Mrs. A. P. Findlay as Junior Deacon, Mrs. H. B. Brown as secretary and Mrs. A. W. Tower as treasurer, were a team even a comedy troupe de luxe might envy. The whole affair was impromptu—no rehearsal had been held; each lady had written her own part and they had had one conference to outline the plan.

Attired in the badges, gloves and aprons of the lodge, the "Worshipful Master" wearing a gentleman's silk hat atop of her trig coiffure, they marched solemnly in and opened the lodge in regulation fashion.

Candidate Is Picked

Pouncing upon their unsuspecting victim, Dr. Boyer, they declared him the candidate for initiation and the proper officers took him out to be prepared.

They brought him back attired in a sort of a Happy Hooligan hat, and a Roman toga that had seen better days, or else was manufactured hurriedly out of some one's coat a size or two too small for the wearer, for he failed to conceal one bare foot encased in a shabby sandal. Mr. Davis, recruited from the audience, acted as organist during the solemn (?) ceremony, but his music could scarcely be heard above the hilarious laughter of the audience.

Space forbids a recital or what they did to the good-natured victim, but it was enough to entitle him to a medal as the best-natured man in the state. First off they relieved him of his watch, which he must redeem by paying $5 to the building fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club. They decorated him with the insignia of the Order of the Bottle of Poison, as a mark of discretion upon his testifying to never having taken any of his own medicine; they decorated him also with the Order of the Trowel, which, they said, would come handy at banquets where peas were served. They conferred upon him the emblem of the Three Steps: The fox-trot, "born of inspiration and finished in intoxication," the "Klingstone Glide" and the shimmy, and made him exemplify them, assisted by the senior deacon.

When they had conducted him from station to station he finally wound up at that of the senior warden, who happened to be his wife. She said she had never had a chance before to tell him just what she thought of him, and while she admitted he was fat and good-natured, she expressed herself emphatically as being sick and tired of his going out in his bare feet every morning to grab the paper first in order to find out the doings of "Andy Gump and Min." She also objected to his eternally playing solitaire, saying if he'd only play poker instead she might be able, occasionally, to buy something, or go somewhere.

Another most enjoyable feature of the evening was the singing, by everybody, of the loved old songs—"Old Black Joe," "Old Kentucky Home," "Old Oaken Bucket," "Jingle Bells" (with native sons and daughters on the verses, the whole company on the chorus), and last but not least, "America." This singing was led most effectively by Dr. Joe Marple.

BOYS SLAY GREAT EAGLE
DEPERE, Wis.—Adrian and Norbert Brick, small sons of William Brick of Askeaton, near this city, had a thrilling battle against a large eagle. While on their way to school the bird swooped down upon them, grabbed Norbert, the smaller boy, in his talons and attempted to fly away with him.

The boys were taken by surprise, never before having seen an eagle and believing it to be a monster hawk. The boys showed great presence of mind. While Norbert was fighting desperately against being carried off and pounding the bird furiously, Adrian hunted up a club and attacked the bird.

The bird was stunned and released its hold on Norbert, and the two little fellows quickly killed it with clubs and stones.

APPOINTMENT

DR. JESSIE A. RUSSELL NAMED AS DELEGATE NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL MEET

Dr. Jessie A. Russell has been recently honored by the appointment to two very important offices.

P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education, bureau of education, department of the interior, has wired her official appointment as a delegate to the national educational conference of the western states which is to be held in Sacramento in the capital building on December 6 and 7.

Governor Stephens has appointed Dr. Russell as a representative from the state of California to this conference and as national chairman of legislation she will represent the national congress of mothers and Parent-Teacher associations.

It is expected that governors of the western states, the chief school officers of the states, members of legislatures, representatives of universities, colleges and normal schools and many others in official positions will be in attendance.

Eight hundred delegates from the different states interested are expected to attend.

GIRL DIES OF HAPPINESS

MARTIN'S FERRY, Ohio—Excitement, due to watching her pet dog play "horse" with her playmates, caused the death of Minnie, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks, living north of this city.

The child has been ill of scarlet fever and was recovering. The physician, fearing the effect of sudden excitement, cautioned against anything that might cause a strain upon the heart.

Playmates hitched her pet dog to a small wagon and called to the child to look out of the window beside her bed. She became so happy watching the antics of the pup that she collapsed and soon succumbed, the heart being unable to withstand the strain.

THEY RAISE GREAT DUST

MEXICO CITY—Street cleaning in Mexico City has not improved since the days of the Aztecs. The street cleaner has a long pole, at the end of which is fastened a bundle of twigs. With this he makes a fearful dust, but accomplishes only moderate results in the matter of cleaning. When a piece of rubbish is large his broom moves it, but the dust merely takes wing for a moment choking passersby in the street, and then settles down to its old place.

Sometimes it pays to let a man believe you know more about him than you really do.

BANISH DEMON OF INSOMNIA

The other day a medical man, consulted by a patient who feared insomnia, instead of prescribing the expected drug, merely told his patient how to sleep. The threatened insomnia was banished, says London Answers.

One should lie on the right side—not because this affects the heart, but because it relieves pressure on the digestive organs. But the right side is not "a full right." There should be a slight tilt to the left, so that the right shoulder blade, and not just the shoulder, takes the weight.

The proper position is to elevate the feet three inches or so higher than the head and just to "crook" the legs slightly. Head pillows should not be used, or but just a small one. And that should come under the neck. Nature's pillow is the sleeper's own arm, curved.

PITIFUL PLIGHT

LARGE NUMBER OF LITTLE CHILDREN DECLARED TO BE NEAR STARVATION

PARIS—The misery of Austria's hungry children is told by Pierre Hamp, writing in a Paris weekly. He watched the breadlines before the soup kitchens where American relief agencies are feeding all those under 14 years of age.

At the door each child must show a card and when they leave they are searched, says Hamp.

Because there is not enough for all the hungry to be fed, the children may not carry away food. Yet the keen intelligence of the young sometimes outwits the watchfulness of their elders.

"To be sure," one of the managers told me, "we should have to undress the children. One little girl put her slices of bread in her stockings. The next week she came with a rag over her cheek, saying she had the toothache. Under the cloth she had a lump of bread."

Pointing to two little girls, she said, "Often I must force them to eat. Grief at the thought that their mother has nothing kills their appetite. Unless I watch them the bread they leave on the table is taken by others."

Another little girl, wearing men's shoes in which her feet were lost, tried to crowd in ahead of her turn. Sent back in the line, she cried. Asked why, the child explained she was wearing the only shoes in the family. She wanted to hurry back so her brother might have the shoes and come, in his turn, while there still was food.

"They are people," said the manager, "whose pride is not yet dead. They would not let their children be seen in the street barefoot."

As the children pass in line and have their bowls filled with cocoa they begin at once to drink and to eat the white bread. They are too hungry to wait until seated.

Sometimes, as the children leave, they are compelled to raise their arms, for some hold hidden bread in their armpits; and sometimes they are searched, for many would, if they could, conceal food for the hungry mother at home.

WOMAN'S CLOTHES

MAN DRESSES IN CLOTHES OF HIS WIFE; ARRESTED, HE CALLS IT LARK

CINCINNATI—Masquerading in woman's garb, Joseph Strauser, 35, stationary engineer, was arrested. After alienists subjected him to a careful examination in probate court, Strauser was dismissed, the physicians stating he is sane.

They explained that his "out-of-the-ordinary idea of having fun" was responsible for his donning of female attire.

Strauser said he was "simply having a lark." Stating that he and his wife, for some time, exchanged clothes, he identified a picture depicting him in woman's clothing and his wife in a man's garments.

He admitted, also, signing "Mrs. Joseph Strauser" to an unmailed letter he wrote to a Philadelphia beauty specialist in which he said he was "horribly disfigured" by a hairy growth on his face which necessitated daily shaving, and asking for a remedy for the defect.

SETTLE BY FLIP

TOSS OF COIN PROPOSED TO SETTLE LAW CASE AND ATTORNEYS AGREE

AKRON, Ohio.—By flipping a penny Common Pleas Judge W. J. Ahern broke a deadlock in connection with the settlement of a lawsuit.

Attorneys in the case declared the court's unusual procedure was a just one.

It was a damage suit. The claim was for $150. Judge Ahern advised the plaintiff and defendant to settle. Although the defendant agreed to pay $50, the plaintiff held out for $60.

When he found neither side would budge Judge Ahern informed the litigants of his plan for disposing of the controversy. Plaintiff and defendant agreed.

Taking a cent out of his pocket Judge Ahern said:
"Heads, you (the defendant) pay $60 and tail you (the plaintiff) take $50."

The flipped coin fell upon a table heads up.

The defendant paid $60 and the court marked the case "settled."

Fluffy, crisp and cool organdies, embroidered nets and laces, sunshades and bathing suits, and leghorn and maline hats have routed the sterner fashion stuff of winter. The Palm Beach-Hot Springs crowd are casting eager eyes upon this torrid-zone rainment, and the stay-at-homes cast no less ardent glances. For, be it known, it is this advance summer resort clothing that sets the style for northern spring and summer wear, and it is an open secret that manufacturers are already making spring and summer clothes along the very some lines indicated by the resort finery, which is now doing a thriving business for the retailers.

Flower effects in both color, pattern and line hold sway in many different realms of fashion. One house is showing a window of soft crepe silk skirts adorned with hand-blocked flowers that swirl about the hem. There is a white skirt, bordered in gay black-eyed Susans. Another shirred model of canary yellow crepe uses a motif of gorgeous nasturtiums. Plain colored silk shirts are selling very well to the southern trade, especially modes of cornflower blue and rose pinks.

Combine Silk and Wool

Other nobby skirts are developed in combinations of silk and wool. One house is showing crepe made up with yokes and panellings of duvetyne. Black and white is most conspicuous in this line. Even white wash skirts glow with some fleck of color. Narrow bandings of copper color edge the pockets and belt of many models.

Large, floppy hats in summery shades to match the rainbow tints of dresses, blouses, and skirts abound. Ribbon hats seem most popular. Wide Roman stripe ribbon fashions many chapeaux and demands no additional trimming. These gay hats are worn with sport and white costumes. Rubberized silk is pressing to the fore as a hat fabric.

One charming model of rose color trimmed with flowers of the same material is being shown.

The shiny effects given by glycerined feathers, ribbons, and shellac braids are being resurrected for next season. Many of the most exclusive shops are selling hats of crepe taffeta, trimmed with huge bows of self-material. Organdie itself fashions many of the airiest hats. Flame color is very popular. All cloth fabrics are very good, by the way. A house which sells importations is asking a fabulous price for a demure poke bonnet fashioned of porcelain blue taffeta and trimmed with varicolored applique flowers of silk and wool.

Little Corsage Bouquets

Organdie has been found fit for a brand new fad. This is its use for little corsage bouquets. Rich evening gowns of stiff brocades and metallic cloths are given a wee ingenue fleck by the flowers of organdie at shoulder or bodice. The "sweet-girl-graduate" effect is continued by little puffed sleeve dresses with high-waisted, shirred bodices and full skirts. The baby sleeves are generally of organdie and are trimmed with eyelet embroidery or beading.

Dame Fashion seems more fickle with her warm-weather dresses than any other part of her wardrobe. There are princess models with long-waisted bodices made from organdie or voile, and full skirts of a contrasting taffeta. There are tunic dresses of taffeta with Medici collars of organdie. There are beaded chiffons and georgettes, and duvetyne, the winter's favorite material, continues into this warm-weather stock. There are many jacket blouses of crepe trimmed with gay duvetyne collars and cuffs.

Dress, skirt and suit makers seem agreed on the slogan "Back to the Soil," for all the hems show a noticeable drop. Nine inches above has come to be the standard height, in contrast to the winter vogue for twelve above.

STRONG INDUSTRY

PEARL MUSSEL FISHERIES ARE FLOURISHING; BUTTONS ARE MADE FROM MUSSELS

It should be remembered that in addition to their food value fishes are necessary in our rivers if we are to perpetuate the pearl button industry of the country, which employs some 20,000 people and yields a product valued at more than $5,000,000.

When the young mussels, which are of microscopic size, are thrown off from the brood pouches of their parents, at the proper season, the larval mussels slowly drift to the bottom and perish in a few days' time unless they come in contact with a passing fish of suitable kind and succeed in making attachment. Once this attachment is made, the tissue of the fish grows over the little mussel, until it has undergone a remarkable change of form and structure; then it drops from the fish to commence its independent life at the bottom of the stream or lake.

It is a further fact that the young of particular kinds of mussels require the gills of particular kinds of fishes as nurseries. The black bass is host for several sorts of mussels; while the kipjack, a kind of herring, is the only known host for the best of all mussels. As this last mentioned fish is far from being abundant in American rivers, it is plain that much care should be exercised in its maintenance.

The mussel fishery that supplies the fresh water pearl button industry is actively conducted in at least twenty states in the Mississippi river basin. The raw production of shells now has a value of about $1,000,000. The fresh water pearl button is now recognized as among the cheapest durable buttons that can be procured. The mussel beds have been rapidly depleted, chiefly because the fishermen in past years would retain only the very best shells and discard as culls all shells that were of an inferior grade.

Necessary action in the way of government legislation to protect the mussel fisheries has been so long delayed that this unique and rather important industry is now sure to experience considerable difficulty in perpetuating itself.

DECLINE DOMESTIC WORK

NEW YORK—Immigrant women coming to America—and there are about 3000 of them a day—are not looking for jobs as servants. Frederick A. Wallis, chief immigration officer, tried for four weeks to get one of the girls to take a job as domestic in his home. He offered the place to close to 100,000 women, but none would take it.

CONVICTS WIN MEDALS

BOSTON—Fourteen convicts, veterans of the world war, were presented with victory service medals. The ceremony was held in the prison chapel. Nearly 500 prisoners, the entire population of state prison, attended.

REFUSES GOLD

YOUNG MAN GIVES REASONS
FOR RENOUNCING FORTUNE
LEFT HIM BY FATHER

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass.—Charles Garland, the young man who has renounced his right to a million-dollar legacy left him by his father, James A. Garland, who was a wealthy clubman and yachtsman of Boston, made a formal statement of his reasons for rejecting the money. His statement, he said, was due to the fact that the many reports of his failure to accept the legacy had failed properly to present his position.

"I refuse to accept the money because it is not mine," Garland said. "A system which starves thousands while hundreds are stuffed condemn themselves. A system which leaves a sick woman helpless and offers its services to a healthy man condemns itself. It is such a system that offers me a million dollars."

"It is blind to the simplest truth known to every child, the truth that the hungry should be fed and the naked clothed. I have had to choose between the loss of private property and the law which is written in every human heart. I choose the one which I believe to be true."

Garland, who has stated that he renounced his claim to the million dollars because he thought Christ would have done the same, continued:

"I believe I could do no good with the money. It is the man who gives food to the hungry who does good, not the dollars given in exchange for the food. I would be happy to be the man if I had the food to give, but I cannot lend myself to handling the money that is not mine, even though the good that might be done is possibly great."

Many people have written to tell him what could be done with the money, he said. "They seem almost proud to point out the power that I have in my hands, but it is the most pitiful thing they could point to. You cannot serve God and Mammon. So many people ready to serve the dollar means so many less to serve God. There are great opportunities to do good, but they are in men's hearts, not in their checkbooks. A preacher in the name of Christ said that this million should have been turned to good. He thinks that God's work is paid in dollars. God's work will never be done until men see that this theory is untrue."

Mr. Garland's statement was made from his home here, a former inn of stage coach days. The young man, who is twenty-two years of age, is living at the house with his wife and infant daughter as the guest of his mother, Mrs. Marie Tudor Green, who supplies them with a maid and keeps their larder full. He plans to go to work eventually, he said, but

XMAS GIFT

OVER TWELVE MILLIONS WILL BE DIVIDED BY THOSE IN STANDARD OIL

CHICAGO—Employees of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana will cut a $12,500,000 melon this Christmas, according to plans of the company's officials made public today.

The plans provide each employee who has been in the company's service a year can subscribe to stock equal to the amount of his yearly salary, the company to pay for half the stock. The employee will be allowed to make his payments at the rate of 20 per cent for five years.

The annual payroll amounts to $25,000,000 and if all employees were to take advantage of the offer it would cost the company $12,500,000.

The plan, it is believed, will be adopted by all Standard Oil companies, who have in the aggregate 250,000 employees.

CUT RETAIL MEAT PRICES
CLEVELAND—A general cutting of retail meat prices ranging from 3 to 11 cents a pound, bringing prices nearer normal than at any time in months, was in evidence throughout the city. Bacon was cut from 46 to 35 cents.

The man who insists on being his own banker is usually not as smart as he imagines he is.

a year at Harvard college, which he left to get married, and preparatory schooling in this country and in England fitted him for no work ready at hand, and he said he thought it would be spring before he found anything. His wife joined with him in his renunciation of the million. His mother, although not holding the same views, has told him to do what he thought right.

Accepts Share of Estate

In another house on the estate lives James A. Garland III, a brother of Charles Garland, who has accepted his share of his father's estate, made larger by the fact that the mother of the boys abandoned her rights in order to marry Francis C. Greene after the death of her first husband. At Harvard college is Hamilton Garland, a third son, who lacks several months of reaching his majority. His brother Charles said that he understood Hamilton also was considering refusal to take his share when he becomes of age. Their ideas on the subject were somewhat similar, he said, although the influences of education and environment were not identical.

Garland indicated that his refusal to take the money was not based on any question attached to the origin of the Garland fortune, saying he did not know from what source it was derived, but he believed it came down from his grandfather.

GIVES HIS ALL

FATHER SACRIFICES FORTUNE
TO FIND SON AND SAVE HIM FROM PRISON

NEW YORK—The responsibility of the parent is toward the child—not the other way about, despite popular tradition.

Thus says Israel Sassoon, Egyptian manufacturer and exporter, just returned from Montreal with his runaway boy. Ralph, whose flight to Canada with $12,000 of his employer's money, caused his mother's suicide and has broken the heart and fortune of his father.

"He is a good lad," asserts the quiet-mannered foreign-born merchant, who is willing to beggar himself that his son may have a fresh start in his tragically begun young life.

"Until this awful thing happened he never caused his mother or myself an hour's worry. He had finished public school and while deciding whether he preferred a military academy or a college course he went to work."

"A tried and true old friend of mine offered him a position and Ralph jumped at it—said he wanted to earn money."

"He did not lack money. I used to give him $2 a day so that he might be more or less independent and not humiliated before his comrades. But he wanted to work."

The merchant's large dark eyes gazed beyond with the mystical look of the oriental. He was apparently searching into the soul of his boy, trying to understand and, understanding, to forgive.

"He wanted—life." The elder Sassoon's voice was gentle, a little apologetic, as though trying to translate Ralph's action into something less harsh than criminally.

"He permitted evil companions to tempt him. He listened to suggestions of adventure. He confused deeds of daring with deeds of dishonesty. But—" the older man hastened to add, "in his heart he is not dishonest. He was always a good boy, good at home, good to his mother."

At mention of Ralph's mother, Mr. Sassoon stopped talking and looked away.

His black suit and scarf, the black band on his hat, tell mutely the story of the mother whose courage, already broken by illness, ebbed to the point of intolerable despair. Yet who shall deny it takes grim courage to "turn on the gas" and go out alone to meet The Great Adventure?

The father of Ralph does not say it in so many words, but it is easy to gather that he undertook to be both father and mother, after that, to the errant lad.

Youth to Get Chance
No one knew where the boy was. Money was spent like water, to trace his whereabouts. Business went unattended and the father devoted his whole time and strength to the search. It ended in Montreal.

It is a heavy handicap. Once on a time the moralists would have shaken heavy heads and declared the boy's life was over—just as they whispered "ruined" to wretched girls whose feet had strayed from narrow paths.

But modern ways are a little different.

The employers of Ralph have said they are willing to reinstate him. And the money, nearly $12,000, has been made good by Israel Sassoon.

The boy is at liberty in the custody of his father, under bail. When his trial comes up in the near future sentence may be suspended and a new chance given.

A Lingering Shadow
The shadow the lad will never be free from, however, is his mother's death, although the father has done what he could to dispel it by assuring the world that his wife had been hopeless and melancholy for months because of chronic illness.

Ralph, himself, thinned down from a husky lad to a nervous, remorseful sliver of a boy with a face years older-looking than his sixteen years should show, declares with the fervor of full realization that he will yet live to make his father proud of him.

Mother love is said to be the strongest in the world. Will this father's love prove a rival?

BOYS GATHER

CONFERENCE IS HELD WITH LARGE NUMBER DELEGATES
IN SAN BERNARDINO

For the second time in seven years, the Older Boys' conference of southern California was held in San Bernardino. Fifteen students of the Glendale High school were privileged to attend. Over three hundred students of the southland were present. The conference was held for three days, November 26, 27 and 28, at the Y. M. C. A. and in various schools.

The Glendale delegation took in the Glendale-Pomona football game, and then journeyed to San Bernardino, arriving late, but in time to attend the opening banquet.

During the banquet the various delegations gave their yells.

After the banquet, there were some very interesting speeches. One of them, pertaining to the Mexican situation, was given by a young native of that land. Another impressive and interesting talk was given by a native of Japan. The subject of both talks was "The New Day in

COUNTY GROWS

MORE ASSEMBLYMEN MAY BE GIVEN TO LOS ANGELES
BY LEGISLATURE

The release of 1920 reapportionment figures, in San Francisco, displays the possibility that Los Angeles county may receive six new state assemblymen, making a total of twenty-one, and two new state senators, bringing its representation in the senate to ten. Also, the indications are that San Francisco will lose two assemblymen and two senators.

Reapportionment of representation in the California legislature promises to be one of the most important contests of the forty-fourth session of that body opening in January.

The number of members in the legislature is set by the constitution at forty for the senate and eighty for the assembly, the apportionment to be based on population shown by the decennial United States census.

The present representation is based on the 1910 figures showing a population of 2,377,549 in California, the unit of population being 29,644 persons for each assemblyman and 59,288 for each senator.

The 1920 census showed the population to be 3,437,709, the new unit of population being 42,963 for each assemblyman and 85,927 for each senator.

Based upon the new units of population, Los Angeles county's representation would be increased from fifteen to twenty-one, and its state senators from eight to ten. San Francisco county, upon the same basis, would receive eleven assemblymen, instead of thirteen as at present, and five state senators instead of seven.

Growth of Los Angeles County
Los Angeles county, which now has eight senators and fifteen assemblymen, climbed from a population of 504,131 in 1910 to 936,368 in 1920, as against a growth in San Francisco, the other chief center of population in California, from 416,912 to 506,676. Ten years ago San Francisco lost five assemblymen, and now has thirteen and seven senators.

There appears to be no possibility of a deadlock preventing the legislature from making a reapportionment, as the state constitution, declaring that the census taken every ten years shall be the basis thereof, adds . . . "and the legislature shall, at its first session after each census, adjust such districts and reapportion the representation so as to preserve them as nearly equal in population as may be."

Other Losses Are Shown

Apparently those sections of California in which the growth of population during the last decade has been proportionate to that of the entire state will maintain their present representation, while those that show unusually large increases will gain representation at the expense of those that have made little gain or have actually lost in population.

Two senatorial districts, comprising nine counties, and four assembly districts, comprising twelve counties, show an actual loss in population since 1910. All of these are in the northern part of the state, the senatorial districts, two and three, including Lassen, Modoc, Shasta, Siskiyou, El Dorado, Nevada, Placer, Plumas and Sierra counties; and the assembly districts, three, nine, sixteen and forty-seven, including the counties of Shasta, Trinity, Placer, Nevada, El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Alpine, Inyo, Mono, Mariposa and Tuolumne.

Their Land. Others were given by Judge Curtis of the superior court of San Bernardino county and a Y. M. C. A. man from China, who thrilled his audience by telling them of the great work being accomplished by the students of that far-away land.

After a most enjoyable meal and the informal talks, the delegates were entertained by two noted after-dinner speakers.

The citizens of San Bernardino were very hospitable and turned their homes wide open to the boys.

Short Group Conferences

Things started bright and early Saturday morning. Short group conferences were held and problems of importance were discussed and methods of solving them discussed.

Lunch was served at the Y. M. C. A., after which an Indian spoke and pleaded for his down-trodden people.

The afternoon was spent at the San Bernardino high school, where there was a basketball game between the Sherman Indians and the San Diego Y. M. C. A., the Indians winning by fifty points. Their team work was perfect, regardless of the fact that they had been organized only a week.

Saturday night each delegation put on a stunt. A cake was awarded the winner and San Diego took it.

Sunday was farewell day for the convention, the morning being given up to a purpose meeting in which everyone took part, told what he had received and what he was going to do after returning home.

A big banquet was given at noon, which was followed by inspiring speeches.

The Presbyterian church was represented by Earl P. Hammond, president of the Dynamos class. Other delegates present from the two Hi Y clubs of Glendale were Dale Wood, Fred Stofft, Cecil Wilson, Lee Payne, Forest Jordan, Horace McRae, Dalton Mattiz, Paul Edmonds, Clarence Hallard, Professors Cookman and Benjamin of the high school.

The delegation was in charge of Rex C. Kelly, Y. M. C. A. secretary for this district.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

RENT WOODSHED

COUPLE RETURN HOME, CANNOT GET OWN HOUSE AT ONCE,
GET LITTLE SHED

ONTARIO, Calif.—Although they bought a perfectly good residence some three or four months ago in order to insure themselves a roof to cover their heads on their return from a trip to Iowa to dispose of the old farm, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hewes today found themselves homeless.

While on a visit here last summer Mr. and Mrs. Hewes fell so in love with Ontario that they decided they would never be content to live anywhere else, and being fully aware of the house shortage after vain attempts to rent a suitable place of residence, they purchased a house from Roy P. Carder at 411 East D street.

But thinking once more of housing conditions, the Hewes decided that it was their duty to relieve the situation to the extent of their ability by renting the property until such time as they themselves required it, with the result that W. S. Coffin and family were soon comfortably domiciled at the D street address.

They Suddenly Come Back

All went well until the Hewes having settled up their affairs in the middle west, suddenly landed back in Ontario bag and baggage and notified the Coffins they wanted their house back.

A hasty survey of the situation on the part of Mr. Coffin showed that instead of improving the housing problem had become more serious and his only alternative was to inform the owner of the house that he must have thirty days' written notice before vacating.

Convincing themselves after a brief investigation that Coffin had the law on his side, the Hewes set out on a hunt to find a house.

After hours of fruitless search the Iowans, footsore and weary, are reported finally to have found a good Samaritan in the person of a woman who consented to rent them a transformed woodshed for $18 a month, and it is there that they will remain, content that they have a place to rest until their own house, purchased with a view to preparedness, which miscarried, is at last turned over to them.

JAIL HAT CHECK IS FAILURE

NEWARK, N. J.—The restaurant policy of "Watch your hat and overcoat" does not apply to the county penitentiary at Caldwell. The prison must either preserve inmates' personal property or pay. This was decided when the county board of freeholders directed Warden Hosp to reimburse two convicts whose terms had expired and who threatened to sue the county if their overcoats, checked when they entered, were not either produced or paid for.
